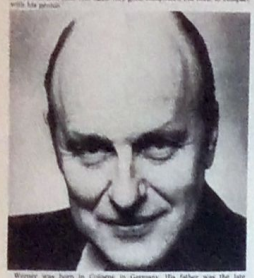
Q. I've been a "Hogan's Heroines" fan for years and one of my favorite actors from that series is Werner Klemperer who played Col. Klink. Can you please me tell me something about his background? Does he have children? And what is he doing these days? Thank you. Wildy S.

A. Klemperer, who is the father of two children, Mark and Erica, lives in New York and is enjoying one of the busiest periods in his long career. On July 11, for example, he can be seen on PBS as the narrator for the exciting General Motors Mark of Excellence "Live from Lincoln Center" production of "A Mostly Mozart Festival Gala." He says that, "Although I know people will certainly disagree with me, I believe that Mozart created incomparable music and that other less name very good composers, but none to compare with his genius."



Werner was born in Cologne in Germany. His father was the late conductor, Otto Klemperer. The family left in 1933 and settled in the United States. Werner grew up in a world of music. But although his creative talents took him into acting, he told us: "Choosing to be an actor in no way meant I had turned away from music. Acting was something I wanted to do as my profession, but music will always be part of me and of my life."

Werner recently costarred in a revival of "Sound of Music". He earned a Tony nomination in the recently revived "Cabaret" on Broadway and is preparing for another role. He was also one of the judges for the past season's Tony nominations! Asked how an actor judges his peers, Werner said, "It may surprise some critics, but we are remarkably objective."

The stage, film, TV, and musical theater star enjoys having people recognize him via his two-time Emmy winning role on the continuing reruns of his old "Hogan's Heroines" series — which, by the way, debuted in 1965! "It was a good series. We all enjoyed doing it. I'm glad it continues to make people laugh."

Q. I can't believe what I heard on the radio, that Bill Cosby is having money problems. The report said he was overdrawn by millions. Is this possible? Olivia D.

A. Anything's possible, but not in this instance. Cosby is in excellent financial health. The story reportedly came from a former employee who is alleged to have mishandled the Cosby family funds in the past.

Q. What will actress Mary Frann be doing now that "Newhart" has gone off the air? Greg N.

A. Already in production, Ms. Frann is starring in an NBC mini-series titled "Lucky," based on the best-seller book by Jackie Collins. Mary portrays a seductive wife who vamps around in sexy lingerie.

Q. Is Patti Davis (daughter of Ronald and Nancy Reagan) really broke, and is that why she's selling family heirlooms? I thought she had money from her parents, as well as from the books she's written. Please set the story straight. Thank you. Betty H.

A. Davis reportedly had what they call a cash flow problem and needed to raise some money to meet expenses quickly. When she was a teenager, her father wrote to caution her not to smoke. It's this letter that she offered to sell, for $40,000.

Q. What was the name of the soap opera in which Christopher Reeve was seen and tapped for the "Superman" role? My sister says "Secret Storm," I say it was "One Life to Live." Roberta K.

A. It was neither. Reeve was in "Love of Life." But it wasn't the soap that got him noticed. He did a theater tour with Katharine Hepburn and Dorothy Loudon when he was seen by some people who thought he should audition for the first "Superman" movie.

Q. Has CBS canceled "Wiseguy" starring Ken Wahl? Beth T.

A. CBS just announced that "Wiseguy" will not be on their new fall schedule. However, the show will be a mid-season replacement. Sadly, though, actor Ken Wahl will only be in the first two to four episodes, and then will be replaced with Stephen Bauer, a new undercover character.

Q. What is Lucille Ball's daughter, Lucie Arnaz, up to these days? Pamela W.

A. Ms. Arnaz returns to prime-time television next fall on CBS' new drama series, "The Commanders." In the show, Lucie heads up a large family, and the program will air Thursdays, 8 p.m., EST.

Q. I really enjoy "Saturday With Connie Chung," but I am worried, because I have heard rumors that her program is going to be canceled due to poor ratings. What's the story here? Anthony A.

A. Connie is currently CBS' number one gem, and the network is moving cautiously with her program. In order to boost lackluster ratings, the show is going to be moved to Mondays at 10 p.m., EST, renamed "Face to Face with Connie Chung" and will press more for big-name celebrity interviews.

Soap Updates by Seli Groves

ALL MY CHILDREN: Trevor offered to help Brooke rescue Tad. Erica and Barbara became closer after learning both had fathers who "abandoned." As Trevor and Jeremy followed in an unmarked van, Brooke was abducted and imprisoned along with Tad. Travis and Jack tried to get Eric to sell his shares of "Enchantment" to them instead of Adam and Natalie. Chuck blasted Phoebe about blackmailing Donna and revealed they'd set up an irreversible trust for Emily Ann with the money. Despite Brooke's orders to the contrary, Palmer got her assistant to start the presses. Billy finally told a flabbergasted Emily Ann that he's her real father. Wait To See: Adam fears the worst for Brooke as her chances for survival seem to grow dimmer.

ANOTHER WORLD: Olivia bailed Sam out of jail and promised her support. After he found the supplies Josie used to make the letters from her "Jan," Matt broke their engagement. After almost making love in Prague, Jamie told Marley she'd have to return to Bay City alone. Emma was shocked when Sharlene admitted to a multiple personality disorder. Iris invited the family for a memorial tribute to Mac. Rachel found Mac's will. Evan had a statement for everyone. Wait To See: Amanda is shocked by Sam's reaction to her unwitting part in Evan's plan.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Kirk was upset that Iva would be seeing Addie and Lenore. As Casey slipped into a coma, Margo disconnected his life support system, letting him die. Kim walked in as Rob was coordinating a sobbing Susan. Lyla was furious that Margo took away her choice, and Tom refused to give her his full support for what she did. Later, Margo learned she may be pregnant. Kirk told Ellie he loves her, but Ellie couldn't be sure she felt the same way. Caleb questioned Lily about Lisa. Wait To See: Despite Bob's attempts, he and Kim seem to be drifting farther apart.

BOLD & THE BEAUTIFUL: Dr. D'Angelo assigned Brooke to handle Caroline's blood tests. Brooke's analysis showed that the patient was very ill; she prayed that C. Spencer was not Caroline. Eric tried to persuade Stephanie that Brooke didn't start their affair; he did. Thorne told Brooke he had Ridge test her feelings for his brother because he's still hoping to keep his family together. To Macy's dismay, Sally was falling more deeply in love with Charlie. Wait To See: Trevor's gone more than he expected when he learns about Clarke's tie to Spectra.

DALLAS: On hiatus

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Jo learned Ned's secret. Mickey confronted father Justin and Adrienne switched homes on the island with Dr. Carly. Marlena, Bo, Hope, Roman, Jack, Jack, Jennifer, Kristen, and John performed Emerson's play. Jack was pleased, unaware that he switched the prop gun with a real one. Carl was the prop gun with a real one. Carl was plagued by bad memories of his father. Kimberly's baby, and Ned ordered Craig to have Kimberly forever barred from having any abortion. Wait To See: Bo's finally test puts an unexpected target in danger.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Frisco fretted that he couldn't help Sweet's pain. Jessica's death. Simone agreed that Tom should have the baby's DNA test done separately from Hardeman's. Lucy panicked when Tracy told her to spill what she knows about Ned, or she'll tell Alan the truth about the Alan/Lucy phone. Shery and Wendy welcomed Ned's re-enactment of the stylings. Jake personality disorder. Iris invited Frisco. Anna was upset that Faison arranged for Robin to collaborate on a children's book about an alien. Wait To See: Deckey finds a clue that could lead to a new attack.

GENERATIONS: Ruth hoped Maya wasn't rushing into marriage with Adam. Sam's compliance about wife Alma. Sam's compliance about Kyle's job forced Jordan to offer him one at the hotel. Mary found the diamonds in the mouse head. Kyle, Sam, and Jason came to the private airplane hangar too late to stop Seth and Lionel from flying off with them. Lionel was impressed with Bob's manuscript about him. Wait To See: Dorene has plans that could upset Maya's hopes of marrying Adam.

GUIDING LIGHT: Reva chided Frank, but was picked up by Roger who took incriminating pictures of her. Billy and Vanessa realized Reva must have the deed. Furious that Blake would marry Alan Michael, Gary fired her up to the boiler room with a time bomb — and then learned she'd tricked Alan Michael with her pregnancy story. Josh realized the only way to get through Reva was to ask for forgiveness. Alex was upset at Fletcher's resigna tion. Wait To See: Billy faces a crisis of conscience.

KNOTS LANDING: On hiatus

LOVING: Shana returned to Cincinnati to attend Jack and Stacey's wedding. Ava invited Greg to go to the zoo with Beau. As the wedding party boarded, Heather disappeared, leaving behind some of the ransom. Lonnie came to her face — unaware Lonnie Coulter was the injected batch that it came from the rejected batch. Ava and Beau arrived safely. Heather and Jack were Louie presses Kate for a decision; she's afraid to make Edgar had several thoughts about Shana's decision she agreed to an unexpected development.

Antiques and Collecting
by Ralph & Terry Kovel

Lamps with metal frames and glass shades were first made in the early 1900s, and now are becoming increasingly popular — and increasingly expensive. The three big names in collectors are Tiffany Studios, Handel and Pairpoint. Tiffany is best known for its leaded glass lamps made of colored glass. Pairpoint is famous for the domed-shaped, blown-out shades which were colored on the inside to look raised flowers on the outside and a bronze base. Handel is best known for its overweighted glass dome shapes, which were often made on a background that looks like chipped ice. A shade recently sold for a record-setting price of over $60,000, which may indicate that other flower-decorated lamps will be going up in price.

Q. I have a "family pasttdown." It is a cookie jar in the shape of a strawberry, and it is marked "Sears Exclusive USA Patent Pending." My grandmother used it, so I know that it is at least 45 years old. The paint has faded and is worn. Should I repaint it? Would this hurt the value (even though I would never sell it)? It means very much to me to have Grandma's cookie jar.

A. If you are unhappy looking at the jar in its present condition, it would not hurt to touch up the glaze with a removable paint. If you are sure you will never want to sell the jar and prefer to have it look like new, you should paint it. The touch-up may lower the value of others, but it might make you happier.

Q. About 60 years ago, my wife was given a 4½-inch-high china figure marked on the bottom "Madame Pompadour, E&R, Germany." The doll had a stylish hairdo, long hoop skirt and a fan in one hand. It is in two pieces. The bottom part is separate. Can you tell me about it?

A. You have a covered dressing-table box in a style that was popular in the 1800s. E&R stands for Ebeling and Reuter, an importing firm from the Philadelphia area which has been in business since 1868.

We discovered a limited number of hard-cover copies of the out-of-print book "Kovels' Collector's Guide to American Art Pottery" by Ralph and Terry Kovel. Baggage explosive detector

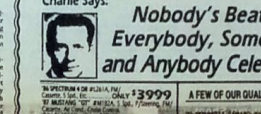
The Thermal neutron analysis (TNA) machine detects materials — like plastic explosive — that contain high concentrations of nitrogen. The Federal Aviation Administration has bought six of these machines to search airline baggage for bombs, but small bombs can elude them.

How TNA works:
- Bags move on conveyor belt
- Machine bombards them with neutrons, which react with nitrogen
- Neutrons cause nitrogen to emit gamma rays, a form of radiation
- Detectors sense the gamma rays and show an image of the bag on a color television monitor
- Machine can check 10 bags per minute
- Cost: $750,000 to $1 million

"I take them to the principal in the morning and they're out on the playground again by recess."



"What this country needs is a dollar that will buy fifty cents' worth of groceries."
